

Introduction	1
Deepak Kumar and Raj Sekhar Basu

I: The Multiplicity of Domains

1. Probing History of Medicine and Public Health in India: A Study of Encounters at Multiple Sites 23
Deepak Kumar
2. Anatomical Knowledge and East-West Exchange 40
Jayanta Bhattacharya
3. From Bazaar Medicine to Hospital Medicine: Calomel, India, and the British Empire, c.1750–c.1800 61
Mark Harrison
4. Dietetics, Mimesis, and Alterity: Food in Asian Medical Traditions and East-West Exchanges 80
David Arnold
5. Health and Sovereignty in the New Asia: The Decline and Rise of the Tropics 98
Sunil Amrith

II: The Differing Perceptions

6. Cholera, Heroic Therapies, and Rise of Homoeopathy in 19th Century India 123
Dhrub Kumar Singh
7. Knowing Health and Medicine: A Case Study of Benares, c. 1900–1950 160
Madhuri Sharma

8.	Healing the Sick and the Destitute: Protestant Missionaries and Medical Missions in 19th and 20th Century Travancore	187
	Raj Sekhar Basu
9.	A Mixed Record: Malaria Control in Bombay Presidency, 1900–1935	208
	Mridula Ramanna
10.	Vulnerability of Women to Bacillus: Myths and Reality in India, 1890–1950	232
	Bikramaditya Kumar Choudhary
11.	Negotiating Subalternity in Everyday Life: Social Construction of Tuberculosis in Colonial and Post-colonial India	253
	Arabinda Samanta
12.	Delivering the ‘Murdered Child’: Infanticide, Abortion, and Contraception in Colonial India	275
	Indira Chowdhury
	Select Bibliography	299
	Glossary	325
	About the Editors and Contributors	327